TELLS OF SEEING ORCHARD WAITING TO SLAY FATHER

Daughter of Former Gov. Peabody, of Colorado, Corroborates Part of "Confession" Made by Chief Witness Against Haywood.

BOISE, Idaho, June 15.-Two important features were developed in the trial of W. D. Haywood for the murder of former Gov, Steunenberg. Miss Cora Peabody, daughter of ex-Gov. Peabody, of Col. orado, corroborated that part of the confession of Harry Orchard relating to the siege he laid to the Peabody mansion while awaiting a chance to explode a bomb. A telegram from Steve Adams, alleged associate in crime of Orchard, sent to Haywood from Ogden and containing a request for money was admitted in evidence.

The seats outside the bar were not more than half filled when court opened. Senator Borah stated that in the story told by Orchard and the testimony of Pender yesterday, that Steve Adams seat a telegram to Haywood, thus linking Steve Adams as a co-conspirator with Haywood, the State had the right to his knowledge of the contents of the telegram.

The court admitted the testimony as a declaration from Steve Adams, whom the State sets up as a conspirator. The telegram read:

Attorney Richardson developed the fact, however, that Warford is now in the penitentiary.

Naylor denied ever having known "Tom" Hogan or Harry Orchard.

Mr. Richardson here indicated the purpose of the defense to attempt further to connect the Mine Owners' Association with the outrages in Crippie Creek, this time with the Independence Depot explosion, to which Orchard has confessed on the stand, implicating Steve Adams. The attorney wanted to know if Naylor had not care.

Mrs. Ryley was acrested early to-day treet by Policeman O'Leary of the East Fifty-first street police station.

The patrolman's attention was astracted to her by Robert Gladfeld, driver of a bakery wagon for Robert Beron's bread shop at No. see Sixth avenue.

"I want that woman arrested" ite shouted, pointing to the woman, who was tearing at the loaf like a famished animal. "the stole that loaf."

"You want her arrested for stealing a loaf of bread!" exclaimed the policeman. "Why if that's all it is I if pay you for it myself."

"Not on your life." replied Gladfeld. "She stole it and I want her pinched." There was nothing left for O'Leary to do but arrest the half-starved woman. In the Yorkville Court Magistrate Whitman heard her story. Her hushard had got out of work and deserted her. She had no money and was disposeesed a week ago. Since then, not knowing that there were charitable organizations she could apply to, she said she had lived on the pickings of garbage palls, fighting vagrant dogs and cate for puried scraps. The sight of the crisp, newly baked loaf lying on the doorstep, whe said, was too much for her and she took it.

"I'm sorry, but it was hunger did it. Judge," she pathetically said in extensation of her "crime."

The Magistrate ordered Miss Smith, the probationary officer, to take the woman and see that she was fed. Miss Smith, after a few moments conversation with the woman, recommended that she be removed to Bellevue, as her misfortunes seemed to have affected her mind.

SEASICK CURE KILLS CHILDREN ON STEAMSHIP

Gave Them Potato Gin to Drink.

MOTHERS NEARLY CRAZY

Had to Be Closely Watched to Keep Them from Leaping Into Sea.

Portuguese remedy caused the death of three little children last Sunday in the steerage of the port to-day, overdue, from Naples. The children were buried at sea Monday evening and the mothers were kept in close confinement all the way to New York to prevent them from jumping overboard.

June 8 and took on 150 Portuguese im migrants for New York. There were several children in the consignment, the coungest being Honorina Angelica and Maria Amorin, aged six, and Francisco Conto. aged five. Rough weather was encountered soon after the ship started for New York and on Sunday morning all the Portuguese were seasick. They had provided themselves with liberal supplies of potate gin before sailing and this was pareed around and freely drunk. Potato gin is as deadly as wood alcohol The children were given big dozes with the natural effect. In a short time they ficers reported to Ship's Surgeon Dr. Viceconti, who was abound representing he Italian Government.

The two doctors worked hard over the stricken children, but to no avail. Other children, older than the three who died, were also treated, and some of the adult immigrants were also in a
